RECOMMENDATION LETTER

To
The Dental School Admissions Committee,

I intend to provide the most genuine recommendation letter for Ms. Anupama Sreedharan. Through my leadership as Dean, I oversaw Anupama during her Bachelor of Dental Surgery program from 2014 to 2019 at Mahe Institute of Dental Sciences and Hospital, an affiliation of Pondicherry University. As a result of my firsthand experience with her, I can verify that the dental system in America will be getting an ideal student, clinician, and leader.

I feel it is especially relevant to highlight that in addition to my role as Principal, I also served as Anupama's direct instructor during the time of her enrollment through my associated responsibility as Head of the Department of Periodontics. Anupama always set herself apart as an exceptional scholar with a willingness to learn, tenacious persistence, and advanced knowledge. The complexities of advanced periodontal concepts, as well as all other areas per my review of her records, did not pose any significant challenge for Anupama. It came as no surprise to anyone that she received various recognitions, including "Best Fresher" during her first year and "First Class" during her final year. From beginning to end, she was outstanding.

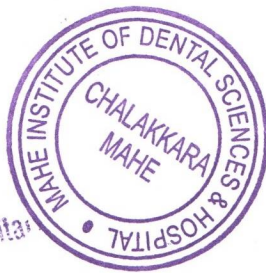

Outside of classes, our university provided Anupama with rigorous hands-on training in patient-facing settings. All of the abilities and qualities I have noted connect to her clinical work, which always led to perfect treatment planning, diagnosis, and hands-on results for patients. Anupama brings exceptional precision and attention to detail in the clinic, with unparalleled methods for patient care and communication. She has completed a hands-on fellowship training in rotary endodontics during her internship, thereby, inquisitively leveraging any available opportunity. In accordance with the type of clinician, she established herself as I am fully confident the hands-on work Anupama will deliver in the United States will be nothing short of flawless. In addition, Anupama is a very mature presence with excellent leadership capability, shown through her impactful planning, organization, and hosting of events on campus as a master of ceremony. She was also known for engaging in poster presentations, teaching opportunities, and seminars, where she enhanced the knowledge of everyone around her through articulate delivery and command. Based upon this, I expect Anupama to be a role model for others when handling any course requirement, clinical need, or extracurricular task. As a result of her leadership-driven skills, she can also be expected to spearhead discussions, provide well-analyzed insight, and be an advocate for collaborative learning. On behalf of our university, we fully support her as she takes the next step in her United States-based career.

As a final point, Anupama is a student who realizes that there is never too much to learn. As she has shown through her wide range of pursuits to learn beyond what is required and set herself apart, I admire her vision to integrate into an entirely new university, society, and dental industry to continue doing so. If you have any concerns about her ability to exceed the expectations your own respective leadership sets forth, I can be reached at your convenience.

Kind regards,
